WOMEN SUFFERERSNEED SWAMP-ROOT

Thousands upon thousands of women have kidney and bladder trouble and never suspect it.

Women's complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney trouble, or the result of kidney or bladder disease.

If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition, they may cause the other organs to become diseased.

You may suffer a great deal with pain in the back, headache, loss of ambition, nervousness and may be dependent and irritable.

Don't delay starting treatment. Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, a physician's prescription, obtained at any drug store, restores health to the kidneys and is just the remedy needed to overcome such conditions.

Get a fifty-cent or one dollar bottle immediately from any drug store.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation, send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention the Anderson Weekly Intelligencer.

WHAT HAPPENS WHEN TWO COUNTRIES SEVER THEIR DIPLOMATIC RELATIONS

Such Action Does Not Mean That War Between the Nations Will Necessarily Follow, Although It Is a Step In That Direction.

Many Times In History Have There Been Disputes Which Resulted In Such Ruptures, Only To Be Smoothed Over by the Passing of Time.

WHAT does a "severance of diplomatic relations" really mean?

In the first place, it does not necessarily mean that war is to follow, but it is admitted on all sides that the breaking of such ties does represent a step nearer to actual warfare.

The discontinuance of diplomatic ties has occurred many times in history, but there is never any visible signs of what the step means. Of course there is always the hasty packing of diplomatic baggage, hasty farewells and quick departure. Safe conduct is always provided for ambassadors who have been recalled or handed their passports.

Treaties are not suspended; commercial relations, directly or indirectly, are not affected.

Sometimes in cases of the severance of such relations the consuls are sent home also, but this is not always the carrying Americans, another sea tragedy, and the popular imagination would see "red." Reason—typified in the morality of international intercourse, the foundation stone of diplomatic relationship—would have failed. The alternative recourse to arms alone would remain, making the incidental quarrel of a belligerent with a neutral a casus belli.

Precedents Out of History.

Many precedents are available to the researcher, proving that a severance of diplomatic relations has not always brought on war. Peru and Chile are today without diplomatic representation at Santiago and Lima, respectively. After the execution of Emperor Maximilian, an Austrian archduke, at Queretaro, Mexico, in 1867, diplomatic relations with Mexico were broken by Austria-Hungary and so remained for more than thirty years. Recently the United States and Mexico severed offcase, as these are not diplomatic officers, but commercial representatives. Communications end; the two nations "stop speaking to each other" in very much the same manner as our children snub their former friends when they pass on the streets.

It was said before the present crisis with Germany that such interests as caring for American archives or American remains in Germany would be entrusted by the United States to another neutral—Spain, Holland or Sweden. Germany would probably give her interests over to her ally Austria, and if by chance diplomatic relations between this country and the dual monarchy were interrupted Sweden might be asked to care for Teutonic affairs.

The vital thing for Germany would be the sudden unloading by the United States of the task—graciously assumed at the outbreak of the war and maintained with considerable effort and painstaking care since then—of handling of German interests in Great Britain, Russia, France, Serbia and Japan. German prisoners of war have benefited by American supervision. Of course the United States would have to relinquish similarly her connection with British, French, Russian, Belgian, Serbian and Japanese interests in Germany. Some other neutral country—perhaps Argentina—would take over the burden.

The Peril of Ensuing War.

So much for the visible characteristics of a break in relations. They are so few and comparatively so unimportant as to imply a certain futility of procedure when the objects to be attained are considered. There is, however, a greater and much more impressive side to the step which would make it a cause for grave thought, a moment of apprehension as well as of genuine sorrow. It would send through the world a thrill of excitement—a sensation of expectancy—because the breaking of diplomatic relations has in so many cases been the precursor of war. Another attack on threatening vessels cial diplomatic relations, and, while the Vera Cruz affair may impair the value of the precedent so far as this government is concerned, certainly the disconnection by Argentina, Brazil and Chile and later by several European governments of diplomatic relations with any government in Mexico reveals how in some cases the action is simply passive and without bellicose tendency.

Would Confiscate No Property.

No confiscation of property, however, is possible even were a state of war to ensue as between the United States and Germany, for the Prussian-American treaty of 1828 specifically provides for the protection of private property in the event of war. Ships might, however, be requisitioned, though at the end of the war the obligation to return them to original owners would still be alive.

Technically the United States would still be bound to preserve her neutrality. But whether neutrality would become thereafter "benevolent," being thereafter converted by circumstances into open partiality, is something which may prove the very deterrent of hostile or unfriendly acts on the part of German submarine commanders.

Unquestionably the significance of discontinuing diplomatic relations would be chiefly moral. That would be its enduring effect. The United States would be in the position of having outlawed a great government with which throughout history she had been on terms of peace and amity. The fundamental cause of the withdrawal by America of her recognition of the existence of a German government in the world would be the latter's alleged disregard of international law and the higher laws of humanity, persistent since always to international morality. The United States would not recognize the German government as in existence any more than it did the rule of one Huerta and his so-called government. Diplomatically their status would be on a par.

CALOMEL WHEN BILIOUS? NO! STOP! MAKES YOU SICK AND SALIVATES

"Dodson's Liver Tone" Is Harmless To Clean Your Sluggish Liver and Bowels.

Ugh! Calomel makes you sick. It's horrible! Take a dose of the dangerous drug tonight and tomorrow you may lose a day's work.

Calomel is mercury or quicksilver which causes necrosis of the bones. Calomel, when it comes into contact with your bile crashes into it, breaking it up. This is when you feel that awful nausea and cramping. If you are sluggish and "all knocked out," if your liver is torpid and bowels constipated or you have headache, dizziness, coated tongue, if breath is bad or stomach sour, just try a spoonful of harmless Dodson's Liver Tone tonight on my guarantee.

Here's my guarantee—Go to any drug store and get a 50-cent bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't straighten you right up and make you feel fine and vigorous I want you to go back to the store and get your money. Dodson's Liver Tone is destroying the sale of calomel because it is real liver medicine; entirely vegetable, therefore it can not sialivate or make you sick.

I guarantee that one spoonful of Dodson's Liver Tone will put your sluggish liver to work and clean your bowels of that sour bile and constipated waste which is clogging your system and making you feel miserable. I guarantee that a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone will keep your entire family feeling fine for months. Give it to your children. It is harmless; doesn't gripe and they like its pleasant taste.

It Always Helps

says Mrs. Sylvania Woods, of Clifton Mills, Ky., in writing of her experience with Cardui, the woman's tonic. She says further: "Before I began to use Cardui, my back and head would hurt so bad, I thought the pain would kill me. I was hardly able to do a y of my housework. After taking three bottles of Cardui, I began to feel like a new woman. I soon gained 35 pounds, and now, I do all my housework, as well as run a big water mill."

I wish every suffering woman would give

CARDUI
